Airing Their Feelings

Andover Fire fighters, who have been without a contract for over a year, and are currently in dispute over final arbitration proceedings, literally "aired" their protest Saturday as this banner was flown around the town during the early afternoon. Fire fighters also conducted informational picketing last week to explain their position.

Town Manager On Verge Of Giving Resignation

By Robert E. Finneran
Editor

Acting Town Manager J. Maynard Austin was on the verge of submitting his resignation to the selectmen Wednesday.

The action could have come last night at a special meeting of the selectmen which took place after the TOWNSMAN went to press.

Action to terminate the tenure of the administrator, who has been under fire from some board members over the past year, would have resulted from a lengthy executive session held Tuesday night by selectmen, during which a proposal to Austin was drawn up.

Reason for the executive session was to "discuss legal matters relative to the tenure of the manager," according to Chairman Susan T. Poore. The board was in secret session for close to two hours.

While details of the proposal worked out during the session were not revealed Wednesday, it is considered to include offering Austin a six-month salary as an advisor in return for his resignation. An acting manager would be appointed while the board sought a permanent appointee. Austin would leave the administrative office in a reasonable period of time, within weeks, then be available to the acting manager if necessary.

Madden Named To Board

Joseph Madden, 82 Porter Road, a civil engineer, was appointed to the board of health this week by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, with the approval of the selectmen.

Madden's appointment brings the board up to full compliment. He replaces Dr. William R. O'Reilly, who resigned last month. The chairman, Dr. Robert Walsh, a long time member of the board, indicated he would not seek reappointment, leaving the board for a short time with only Dr. Douglas A. Dunbar as the lone member. Dr. James Kartell was subsequently appointed to fill the Walsh vacancy.

Madden, a senior project engineer, with the consultant firm of Metcalf and Eddy, has degrees in engineering from the University of Rhode Island and New York University.

A registered professional engineer in several states, he served for 20 years with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, retiring as a lieutenant colonel. During his career in the Corps of Engineers he was particularly assigned to environmental hygiene projects.

Austin would not comment on the matter Wednesday, indicating that he would probably seek legal advice before making any decisions.

But, selectmen were scheduled to meet Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. at the water treatment plant to discuss other matters relative to the manager position, and there was the possibility that the resignation would be forthcoming.

The proposal provides for a professional termination of office for the incumbent manager, but its acceptability was still in question late Wednesday.

Austin has been serving as acting manager since Sept. 2, at which time his three-year appointment ended. A prior board of selectmen gave him a three year renewal of his five year contract.

In January of this year, the board of selectmen composed of Milton Greenberg, Alan French, Janet Lake, Susan Poore and Richard Bowen, in a four to one vote, announced they would not renew Austin's

Postal Move Stalled

It would appear that Andover post office facilities will remain in a status quo position until after Christmas rush.

This decision came this week after local postal workers met with Congressman Paul Tsongas on Sunday.

While postal workers continue their effort to retain all facilities in Andover, rather than move processing and distribution work to Lawrence, it now appears that the scheduled Nov. 5 date for that move has been reconsidered by postal service officials.

Cong. Tsongas indicated Tuesday that the postal service would delay any move until after the Christmas business.

The two-year effort to provide a new postal facility in Andover resulted in a September announcement by postal officials that the main post office would remain in operation, be renovated and additional boxes provided.

Also, the Ballardvale and Shawsheen substations would be closed and all distribution and processing be moved to the Lawrence post office, according to the announcement.

Following considerable protest, particularly on the substation closing, George Walker, regional director of the post office attended a public meeting last Wednesday and said that the two facilities would be kept open, but the move of the carriers and clerks to Lawrence would take effect Nov. 5, that date now apparently having been altered.

Anti-Theft Aids Given Police Dept.

The Andover police department has been presented with an ultra-violet light for use in conjunction with Operation Identification by the Bernardin Insurance Agency and Barnard Insurance Agency.

Operation Identification is a new theft deterrent system designed for the homeowner. It is sponsored by the Minuteman Companies of Concord.

The homeowners who wishes to participate is asked to mark at least ten items of personal property with his own identification number, using an indelible marking pen. The markings are only visible under ultra-violet light.

The next step is to place Operation Identification stickers prominently in several windows of the home and to notify the local police department of the identification number. (It is not necessary to inform either the police or the insurance agent of the items marked).

Marking kits are available from the Bernardin Insurance Agency and the Barnard agency. The Andover Police Department can demonstrate their procedures to any private groups or organizations upon request.

Pot Luck Supper At Bancroft

Enrollment Study Is Nearing End

The Declining Enrollment Committee is winding up it's study of Andover schools and has invited the school committee to meet with them Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Stowe School. A community hearing will follow Oct. 27.

DEC Chairman Jerry Silverman told the schoolmen Tuesday night that after the hearing, his group will make its final presentation, recommendations included, in mid-November.

Meanwhile, a preliminary report will go home with school children at the end of next week, to help elicit parental discussion for the public session.

Bus Stop Deemed Safe

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert Tuesday night said that as far as the school administration is concerned, the bus stop at Pleasant Street and Seville Road does not present a safety problem.

Parents from the area had complained that the stop was not safe for the 30 or so youngsters who get the bus there.

Seifert said the safety officer feels there is not a problem there, and that he himself has a great deal of respect for the officer's opinion.

There seems to be an attitude, Seifert added, that if you get enough people to raise point you'll get what you want.

He did, however, say he would ask the bus manager if there could be some modification in the pick-up system at that point, without fouling up the bus route.

Coast Guard Fireman Damage Controlman Brian J. Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Gallagher of 29 Russell St., North Andover, is currently on an offshore fisheries patrol in the Atlantic.

He is serving as a crewmember aboard the Coast Guard cutter Hamilton, homeported in Boston.

During the patrol, his ship will conduct surveillance operations with Coast Guard aircraft to enforce international treaties and U. S. laws, including the 200-mile fisheries conservation zone. Additionally, his cutter recently patrolled the 1977 America's Cup Race off Newport, R. I. His ship was one of several Coast Guard cutters in the America's Cup patrol squadron tasked with ensuring navigational safety and enforcing special regulations in the race area. The Hamilton aided in keeping approximately 5,000 spectator craft clear of the competing yachts.

His ship is a 378-foot long, high endurance cutter and carries a crew of 155 officers and enlisted men. She is outfitted with guns, torpedo tubes and can accommodate a search and rescue helicopter.

A 1975 graduate of North Andover High School, he joined the Coast Guard in April 1976.

Lawrence Facilities To Expand

The ITT Semiconductor Group of International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation has announced plans to expand its Lawrence production facilities by relocating in Lawrence a portion of the integrated-circuit manufacturing operations previously conducted at its West Palm Beach, Fla. plant.

The move is aimed at improving profitability of the ITT Semiconductors U.S. Division by concentrating in the marketing of commercial IC products, memory products, and consumer IC products.

The high-reliability integrated circuit line and the low-volume specialized commercial bi-polar integrated circuit line, now made in Florida, will be discontinued and the Florida plant will cease operations shortly after the first of the year, a company spokesman said.

Norman Miller, president of the U.S. Division of ITT Semiconductors stated that the reason for this decision was the unprofitability of these product lines over the past several years.

The Lawrence facilities will be expanded to make room for the transfer of part of the West Palm Beach operations. As soon as the transfer and phase-out at West Palm Beach is completed, that facility will be closed.

Mr. Miller estimated that the final phase-out at West Palm Beach would not take place until after the first of next year. Some of the employees from West Palm Beach will be transferred to the Expanded Lawrence operation, others will be offered placement in ITT divisions outside of the Semiconductors Group. Employees facing layoff as a result of the decision will receive severance benefits and have their pension rights protected under company policies. An effort is also underway to identify other employment opportunities in the West Palm Beach area for affected employees.

An AFSEER'S "Winter" In Bolivia

Beth Burwell

By Becky McCann

This past June 15 Beth Burwell left behind Andover's summer to spend ten weeks in Bolivia's winter. Actually, the climate change was not as drastic as it sounds. Winter in Bolivia means 60° - 65° and sunny. If only our New England winters were so cold!

Beth, daughter of Linda Burwell, McKenney Circle, and Grant Burwell of pine Street, was one of four Andover students selected by the American Field Service to live abroad. Because she had studied Spanish at Andover High School, Beth was delighted to learn that she would be living in a Spanish speaking country. A total of 29 AFS students were sent to Bolivia last summer, but Beth was the only one who was not assigned to a large city. Beth reports that Sucre is one of Bolivia's smallest cities and is very traditional. She says, "there is nothing modern about it!"

Beth's middle class Bolivian family consisted of her mother and father, who both worked for an oil company, two brothers ages 14 and 15, and a sister who was 17 years old. Beth and her sister got along beautifully, they quickly became close friends. Her sister was a very attractive and popular girl. At the local Catholic girl's school she had been elected the president of her class.

Because it was winter, school was in session so Beth had the unique opportunity to experience the Bolivian educational system first hand. Schools are segregated by sex, and at the girl's school she attended Beth was required to wear their uniform — a white dress, white knee socks, and black patent leather shoes. The classes were from 8:00 to 12:00, and in the afternoon from 2:00 — 4:00. The students study about 14 different subjects during the week. In the classroom situation there is less dialogue than in American school. The teacher talks or lectures and the students take notes. Memorization of this information is necessary to do well on the high school tests. The students therefore, spend most of their free time studying.

Because boys and girls do not attend classes together, they congregate in the main plaza. On Sunday the main plaza is especially crowded. It is customary for the boys to walk in one direction around the outside of the plaza while the girls walk in the opposite direction on the inside of the square. This is how the boys and girls get to see one another and chat. Beth found she stood out because of her light hair and complexion. This earned her the nickname of "choca" which meant blond or light. Through her sister and through the social gatherings in the center of town Beth was able to meet young people and form many new friendships.

Food was plentiful and different in the new surroundings. The Bolivians all return home for a 1:00 dinner which frequently consists of soup, potatoes, rice, meat, and lettuce. The evening meal, around 8:00 was more or less the same. Fruit was the dessert and Pepsi the most common drink with meals. Tea time at 5:00 was something Beth especially enjoyed. The bread which was an important part of the snack "was delicious!"

As for transportation, many people had a jeep or pick-up truck. Evidently the hilly roads were in poor condition, and therefore the vehicles had to be rugged and practical. Nevertheless, the typical Sunday afternoon activity was to go out for a ride.

The occasional frustration caused by the language is a very minor, unimportant factor in Beth's overall impressions of her experience in Bolivia. What is obviously most meaningful is that her experience was a good one, and very special one. Beth now talks about going back some day and is also hoping that her Bolivian sister will come live with her here for a few months.

The match of this friendly AFSEer and her host family was indeed a most successful one.!

Sharing The Credit

A change in the way Social Security affects housewives may be coming soon. Congress is mulling a proposed law that would split retirement credits between husband and wife regardless of how long they've been married. Currently, if a couple breaks up prior to 20 years of marriage, the wife does not share her former husband's Social Security credits.

Completes Basic At W Point

HEAT RECYCLER

HAUTILUS

USE ALL THE HEAT YOU PAY FOR
Enjoy warm rooms with lower thermostat settings. Get rid of cold, drafty floors—save energy and money.

ECONOMICAL OPERATION...
less than 1¢ per day.
HeatRecycler draws only 8 watts of power. Operating 24 hours/day at national average residential electrical rate of $ 0.328 per KWH costs only $ 0.063 per day.

HEAT STRATIFICATION — COLD DRAFTY FLOORS — WASTED ENERGY
Without adequate heat circulation, heat rises and air collects in stagnant hot ceiling layers and cold drafts flow down. Temperature between the ceiling and floor layers often differ as much as 20 to 30 degrees. Higher thermostat settings only waste more energy and increase heat stratification.

HEAT RECYCLER SAVES HEAT
HEAT RECYCLER draws heat rising or blowing and discharges it into the cold floor area. This heat recycles and breaks through the cold air layer. The rising air brings heat to the ceiling and a warm and gentle air movement gradually circulates through the entire room. HEAT RECYCLER and the Natural Laws of Physics work together, moving the heat of an existing warm room even more comfortable under more distribution.

HEAT RECYCLER MAINTAINS COMFORT — SAVES ENERGY
Continuous flow of heat RECYCLER maintains comfortable temperature all day long. Tests show HEAT RECYCLER holds heat and saves air conditioning costs 10 to 15 percent on each other. For less than 1¢ per day, HEAT RECYCLER saves 10 to 15 percent on each other. HEAT RECYCLER will save you 10 to 15 percent.

To Write AVIS History

A history of the Andover Village Improvement Society, the organization dedicated to conservation, is in progress. The society, whose membership is open to everyone, acquires woodlands, wetlands and riverbanks to preserve them in their natural state. Public use of the trails on some twenty-two land areas is encouraged.

Juliet Mofford, a North Andover resident and frequently published local historian, will author the book. One of her recent books was And Firm Thine Ancient Vow: A History of the North Parish Church of North Andover, 1645-1974. She has been combing old Andover newspapers on microfilm, numerous volumes of the society's records from its beginning in 1894, as well as town reports, for details pertaining to AVIS' history.

"To really get a feel for this book", Mrs. Mofford explained, "our entire family has been hiking the various trails at different seasons of the year." She is currently contacting members for personal interviews which will add human interest, "that personal element which makes for interesting reading in such an institutional history."

AVIS was founded 83 years ago by a group of concerned and visionary citizens who saw that the rapid progress of the industrial boom, with its galloping materialism and population bulge, was creating some undesirable side-effects in their community.

The prospective book will show how attitudes and objectives of the organization changed from beautification of the town in the early 1900's to the acquisition of open-space areas for future generations to enjoy, and the events and persons who influenced such changes. The theme is timely and should be of interest to all who are concerned with ecology and the present struggle to preserve our natural areas.

Early AVIS organizers will be profiled, along with some present members who have been moving forces in acquiring lands for public use. The book will also describe the various AVIS reservations, their historical and geological backgrounds, so those who head for the trails, whether in hiking boots or on cross-country skis, can find answers to questions on sights they observe in the field.

Mrs. Mofford would like to hear from any persons who might have information to share, whether it be from scrapbooks, photographs, or memories of their involvement with the organization, past or present. Claus Dengler may also be contacted.

Morning Musicales To Resume

The Boston Morning Musicales will open its 50th Anniversary Season on Wednesday, Nov. 9 at 11 a.m., in the Ballroom of the Copley Plaza Hotel.

The Boston Morning Musicales, a season series of four midday Concerts which follow a morning social hour for its members, are a Boston tradition. For fifty years, it has presented to its subscribers the music world's most renowned figures from Rachmaninoff, Heifetz, and Melchior to Rubenstein, Menuhin, and Sills. For a half-century also, it has helped to support Tufts University's Boston School of Occupational Therapy, for whose benefit it was founded. In the last decade alone, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Alfred W. Willmann of Belmont, it has contributed more than $100,000.00 to the School.

The opening concert will feature Soprano Phyllis Curtin. A Luncheon for Golden Anniversary Donors will be held at the Chilton Club after the concert, with Miss Curtin the guest of honor.

The program for the rest of the 50th Anniversary Season: Boris Goldovsky, Opera Highlights, on Dec. 7; Garrick Ohlsson, Pianist, on Jan. 11; Donald Gramm, Bass-Baritone on March 8. Single tickets may be obtained by contacting the Boston Morning Musicales at Tufts University.

1500 Need Shots

A special immunization clinic for kindergartners who haven't had proper polio, DPT and Measles shots, has been scheduled for Monday at 9 a.m. at Doherty School.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert told the school committee Tuesday night that clinics for older youngsters will also be set up in the near future in order to comply with a new state law.

Pupils who aren't properly immunized will not be allowed in school after November 1, he said.

The cut-off date for kindergartners is Oct. 15 by law, but he said the weekend gave them a two-day breather.

Seifert told the committee that nearly 1500 pupils system-wide are lacking some shots — at least according to their school records. In many cases, he said, the youngsters have been immunized, and the notice just simply hasn't gotten to school.

Seventeen

kindergartners were missing some polio, DPT and measles shots, but Head Nurse Gert Kefferstand said Wednesday that forms from home were coming in "fast and furiously." Many of the youngsters have been immunized, she said, and many are in the process of getting their shots from their family doctors.

A special problem exists in the upper grades where some pupils may have been immunized before 1966, with vaccines that haven't provided proper immunity. The State Department of Public Health is therefore recommending that they be re-immunized.

Should clinics for upper grades become necessary, they will be held at each school, or buses will be provided to transport them to the proper place, he said.

He said he has also sent a letter to the Greater Lawrence Medical Association to see if they can get up an advisory group for school system to talk about a reasonable level of health care. He said Dr. John J. McArdle, formerly school physician, is still operating for the schools on an on-call basis until some other system is set up.

If pupils aren't immunized, and aren't allowed to come to school, he quipped that the system would have the lowest pupil-teacher ratio in the history of Andover.

P.A. Film Scheduled Friday

Andover townspeople are invited to Phillips Academy on Friday evening, Oct. 21, for a screening of "In Their Time: Andover at 200," the new movie about Phillips Academy by filmmakers Joyce Chopra and Tom Cole.

There will be two screenings, at 8 p.m. and again at 9 p.m. in Kemper Auditorium. The 45-minute film is an impressionistic portrayal of life at Andover's 200-year-old residential secondary school. It focusses on half a dozen individual boys and girls in their daily school lives, following them into the classroom with their teachers, into the gym training room or on the field, and in the dormitory.

"In Their Time: Andover at 200" is one of the features of Phillips Academy's 200th year. It will travel, as part of the academy's Bicentennial Fund Campaign, to give alumni far from Andover an insight into the contemporary school, and show prospective students what campus life is like, to at least a few of the boys and girls at the school. The movie also will serve as a permanent record of Phillips Academy at the brink of its third century of education in America; drawing young people from all geographic, social and economic quarters.

Fossil fuels, a part of our national capital, are treated as though they were natural income. Modern industrial systems consume the basis on which they have been built by using irreplaceable capital.

Scotland's Liquid Gold

By Raymond B. DeRuisseau

There was a time in the ago when Scottish gold, the soft precious metal kind, was an important product of the country. Royal jewelry and the marriage bands of queens were fashioned from it. Jewelry and wedding band gold are no longer an importance factor but there are two newer golds produced in Scotland which are very prominent in the United Kingdom's economy. Both are liquid. First and newer is oil and secondly is Scotch whiskey.

Black Gold

Development of the oil and natural gas fields in the North Sea have had a happy impact on Scotland.

The Scottish Office works in conjunction with the Department of Energy, which is an offshoot of Westminster, the government agency responsible for development of offshore oil and natural gas.

Careful planning has keynoted the endeavor since its outset. Results of this planning are obvious and to be seen as one by one they were shown to IPSM members on a tour provided by British Petroleum, the big company involved. BP we were informed owns Standard Oil of Ohio (SOHIO). We had heard "The oil, the land and the people" used many times. It is not just a catch phrase for we saw the precept implemented in all the aspects of production shown us.

Applications for development and production are carefully and extensively studied in light of all the considerations which must be brought into play if authorization is granted. Considered among other factors are the impact on fisheries, the where locations for pipeline landfalls, where terminal facilities may be built and their impact on the environment, what railroad trackage will be required and located, courses for the submarine pipelines, the locations permissible for new centers of industrial activity, housing for the families of those employed in newly created jobs, education for the children in those families and the new roads required to bind the complexes. One example cited was the authorization in 1976 of 4,600 new houses in the "oil areas" at a cost of 55 million pounds.

Scotland's economy is less prosperous than the rest of the UK, a booklet from the Scottish Information Office tells us. Depletion of the coal fields and a depressed market in the once flourishing ship building industry have contributed to the plight. The Clyde is where the great Queens and the great warships were once built. Today oil rig platforms are fabricated there, regenerating to some degree the unemployment resulting from the demise of the liners and foreign competition. Inflation, at the time of our visit, we were told was running about 18% but hope was expressed that with the increasing output of oil and natural gas plus all the ramifications attendant to that production that the figure would be down to 13% in one year. There was no evidence to support that fond hope while we were there.

It was pointed out to us that North Sea oil developments are financed 45% by American money, 45% by British money and 10% from "diverse" sources. Not everyone in the country looks upon the picture as being as rosy as it seems. The millions upon millions of pounds required to support all the oil-related activities being created for turning this great natural asset into hard cash places an additional burden on UK finances, already strained on the international money market.

At a splendid civic reception held for IPSM by the City of Edinburgh District Council, where we met the Lord Provost and Lady Provost Kenneth Bothwick, we were privately told by one considered to be knowledgeable "It all sound very grand but you Americans have the money and the know-how. We had a fire on one of the platforms and who had to come to put it out? A man from Texas!"

Despite the costly and cumbersome problems created by the process of getting the oil to export ports plus doubts in some areas, the gold is there and, as OPEC countries have shown, it becomes hard, hard cash and lots of it.

All we saw and were shown in plans and graphs was most impressive and convincing. The oil is flowing and more platforms are being located over the fields deep below the surface. On the surface pipelines run underground and their approximate locations have to be pointed out as sheep graze on the lush green verdure over where they have been buried. The tank farm for oil storage at Dalmeny, just outside of Edinburgh, is effectively masked by high green mounds. One actually has to be driven into the compound to even know it is there. Shades of Everett, Massachusetts! Contingency plans exist to deal with oil spills if they occur. At Hound Point in the Firth of Forth, close by the railroad bridge, is a loading terminal where the new breed of giant oil tankers fill up with export oil without tying up at a pier. A pipeline system runs from the refinery at Grangemouth to this terminal. The entire operation reflects care for the land and the people.

We were told that the oil alone will account for 1.6 billion pounds of the gross national product this year and that by 1985 a projected 5.2 billion pounds will be oil's contribution to the GNP.

Scottish indicators show that by mid-1976 north Sea oil had created between 56 and 65 thousand jobs which did not exist before. The employment fields ranged from exploration and production to operating the platforms, providing related services and construction on the ground.

Despite the great hopes expressed and results evident, we of the press inquired how stable this creation of new jobs actually was. All of the building which is employing so many new hands will eventually be completed. Then what? So much of the overall development is automated that we inquired if, outside of maintenance people, many of the job holders today would be returned to the ranks of the unemployed? The planners contend that this new industry will continue as a strong contributor to the job market. The future alone will tell how much of a true panacea North Sea oil is in bolstering Scotland's troubled economy.

The wealth created by petroleum will remain an increasing constant but the job question, as in so much automated manufacturing and production today, remains moot. All join the Scots in hoping that it turns out as the planners plan.

Amber Gold

Scotch whiskey, as we know it in this country, is called just plain whiskey in the United Kingdom. Bourbons and Ryes are considered American affectations and are not generally stocked over there. To say that whiskey is important to the UK economy is an understatement. It is a 72-million-gallon a year business and represents one quarter of the country's foreign exchange. About four-fifths of annual sales are to foreign buyers. The United States imports half of the distilled alcoholic beverages exported from Britain. Japan is the second largest market.

IPSM members were guests of James Buchanan & Company, Ltd. in Stepps on the outskirts of Glasgow. We arrived at the ultra-modern plant on a bright, sunshiny morning. Here Buchanan's blend, bottle and package Black & White Scotch plus several other brands not too common here. No distilling is done at this plant.

We entered the impressive domaine through an equally impressive doorway leading into an eight story tower and were met by guides who immediately took us on the tour. First came the receiving area. Here the product of the distillers in the Highlands is received in kegs. There are 121 distillers in Scotland who produce single grain whiskies, keg it and let it sleep for at least three years, sometimes six years, before shipping it to the blenders of which there are nine or ten. The single grain whiskey is the product of "Scotch barley, water from the burns and clear Highlands air," we were told. There are 3,000 makes blended from grain and malt but to the "kenners" (the knowledgeable) of Scotland the top 50 single malt whiskeys are as chateau wines are to the connoisseurs of France.

Buchanan's blend 40 products to produce their popular brand. The casks containing single malt or grain whiskeys are disgorged into stainless steel troughs and pumped into vast holding tanks or vats. There are 11 of these vats, each with a capacity of about 24,000 gallons of whiskey. Air is circulated through the vat under pressure to agitate and "marry" the various whiskeys introduced. Once the marrying process is completed, the blended whiskey is piped into new casks holding 250 gallons and these casks are stored for six months for further marrying. The storeroom we were shown held tier upon tier of casks, the equivalent of two and a quarter million gallons.

To equate what we stood and watched with a dollar value, we recalled that our hotel bar had posted a government document which stated that the official quantity (our "shot") to be served as a legal measure is one-sixth of a gill. That official measure cost 43 pence, about 75¢ American. One-sixth of a gill is approximately .56 of an ounce. So, there is gold in them thar vats.

The plant is fully automated. Bottling, sealing and labeling are marvelously machine done. Then each bottle travels down a track with an illuminated background and an inspector sits, a half-hour to the stint, watching each bottle pass inspection before it is automatically packaged. Over 500 women operate the 13 bottling lines which fill a total of 3,500 dozen bottles per hour or 25,000 dozen bottles per day. Four out of every five of these bottles is destined for export markets.

When the single malt whiskey arrives from the distiller it is high voltage, 120 proof. This is diluted in varying degrees with water from the burns. Hence come the different "proofs" listed on the labels in some, but not all, cases. Some countries do not require that the proof of the contents be spelled out. Some countries prefer their Scotch darker than others. The latter is accomplished by adding caramel to color the product.

We were taken aback when the young lady escorting us casually said that the proof indicated on the bottle we purchased in the States was not the same standard as that used in Britain. She said that our 86 proof would be only the equivalent of their 75 proof. Wanting to pursue that subject further all we were able to ascertain from the chief of public relations there was that 100 proof was originally established by using gun powder. The gun powder was doused with whiskey. When the alcoholic content of the whiskey permitted the flashpoint at which the powder would ignite, that was 100 proof. The relation between the amount of burns water in theirs and ours remained unanswered.

Another interesting sidelight of the tour came in the plant where proofs are determined, or water added. Flowing through huge stainless steel tubes were rivers of whiskey and the bouquet of the liquor is so strong that employees in the area work in relays lest they become inebriated by the odor.

Next we were whisked to the top of the eight-story tower and into a penthouse completely enclosed by glass. Here was an unexpected treat. In all directions we could see to infinity. Our host told us that we had picked "one day in a thousand as far as visibility is concerned". Denied a trip into the Highlands by our schedule, we all appreciated the opportunity to at least see the mountains in the distance. Over the Lennox Hills, Ben Lomond was pointed out and way in the distance, the tip of Ben Nevis. Later reference to our map showed that Nevis was all of 75 miles distant.

The reception for our party was outstanding and all enjoyed receiving a sample of the product as a going away present.

Another interesting sidelight to this visit, since it was as close to Glasgow as we would get, was the revelation that out of a five million population in Scotland, 3.5 million live in the industrial complex between Edinburgh and Glasgow.

Next we regretfully leave the land of the Scots and head for Newcastle where the TOWNSMAN came up with a most interesting scoop.

AMC To Hike Haggett's

This month's hike, Sunday Oct. 16, sponsored by the Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club will feature a hike around Haggett's Pond. (The Pond is Andover's drinking water.) Haggett's will be low enough to tour with sights of foliage and marshland available. Hopefully the warm October sun will be present also.

An extra added attraction is a tour of the new Water Treatment Plant. Hikers will view the workings that protect and filter the water of the town, arranged by Robert E. McQuade, public works director.

The hike will start at 1:30. The meeting place is

Dr. Elizabeth Bowen

To Discuss Nutrition Behavior

Dr. Elizabeth Bowen will explore the relationship of nutrition to children's behavior and learning abilities at 7:30 p.m., Thursday evening, Oct. 13, 1977 at the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical High School, 57 River Road, West Andover, (exit 19 off rte. 93 north).

Dr. Bowen holds her doctorate in education, specializing in the biological basis of learning disabilities. She has found that some 75% of learning disabilities are directly related to health and nutritional problems. Dr. Bowen is a member of a team at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst that is developing a comprehensive educational system with emphasis on the role of health and nutrition in improving children's learning abilities.

She will address a variety of questions, including the relationship between food additives and hyperactivity, short attention span, learning disabilities, moodiness, and sleep problems. She will also share practical suggestions to help parents and teachers deal with children's common food problems.

This program is sponsored by the Feingold Association of the Merrimack Valley, a non-profit organization of parents and professionals concerned with treating hyperactive and learning-disabled children through diet rather than drugs. A small donation is requested.

The discovery and use of coal and oil enabled large populations to live in cities. Each person who moves from rural to a city area, with no change in his consumption level, uses more energy for transportation, housing, fuel and food which is processed and transported, Massachusetts Audubon says.

Women's Group In Session

The Greater Lawrence Chapter of The National Organization for Women has scheduled its second meeting of the new season on Thursday, Oct. 13 at The Andover Memorial Library at 7:30 p.m.

Consciousness-raising, a popular trend of increasing awareness and sharing feelings, will be explained and demonstrated as the program.

The audience will be separated into groups of 8-12 women to discuss personal and political reactions to the question: "Are women treated unfairly?"

The local NOW group has a nucleus of nine members especially trained as leaders in this relatively new form of feminist consciousness-raising, originally developed in California.

All women interested in finding out what CR is all about and experiencing the sisterhood of discussion are welcome to attend.

As a follow-up to the demonstration, the women will be invited to join permanent ten-week groups for further sharing and increased awareness. Arrangements are made according to personal schedules and time available.

Last winter NOW held its first CR demonstration at the Andover Library and found the response impressive. Over 60 women participated that evening with a 95% commitment to permanent groups functioning through the spring.

Due to popular request, as a follow-up to last spring's six CR groups, NOW has initiated "rap" sessions monthly, every fourth week on alternating nights.

These informal sessions, starting Monday, Oct. 24, are open to all women who have already completed the ten-week CR program.

The first topic will be "How Has Your New-Found Feminism Affected Your Life?"

Gardeners In Session

The Four Seasons Garden Club held its October meeting this morning at the home of Mrs. Fred Syiek. Mr. John McLay of McLay's Florist and Garden Center in North Andover was the featured speaker. His topic was "Bulb Potting" with a demonstration. Following this, the members had a bulb planting workshop and plant exchange.

Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Roy Deveau and Mrs. P. Fred Gridley.

She was employed at Scholastic Magazine, publishers of educational materials in New York City before attending the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

She has been awarded a teaching fellowship at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, where she is teaching courses in modern literature, while continuing studies for her Ph.D. in English literature with a specialization in 19th and 20th century British literature.

A 1971 graduate of Andover High School, Ms. Black is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Duncan Black, 7 Sweetbriar Lane, Andover.

Individual silver compotes, arranged with white flowers and white candles will be placed on each table to carry out the theme. Mrs. John Leahy and Mrs. James Kelley are co-chairmen of the gala which will feature a champagne toast to the club's twenty-five years of charitable achievement. Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. to the music of Al Minkinen's Versatones.

A light buffet will be served at midnight. Assisting in plans for the event are Mrs.

Evan Brodie and Mrs. Albert Abrahamson, decorations; Mrs. Paul Durant and Mrs. Vaughan Sanborn, refreshments; Mrs. Glenn Rogers and Mrs. Richard Scarborough, invitations; Mrs. Frederic Hildebrandt, finance; and Mrs. Robert Jurgen, publicity.

Hauck - Warwick

Ruth Joan Warwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Warwick, 23 Greenwood Road, Andover, was married September 17 to David George Hauck, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Hauck of Hilton Head Island, South Carolina.

The Rev. Thomas T. Call officiated at the 1:30 p.m. ceremony in West Parish Church of Andover with Mark Peterson at the organ. The church was decorated with white gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a fitted gown of white tulle with chapel train and trimmed with Venice lace. Her long veil fell from a lace head piece with seed pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids, roses and baby's breath.

Miss Gwen Warwick of North Andover was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were her cousin, Miss Louise Warwick of Dover, Mass. and Mrs. Leslie Hill of Hampton Falls, N. H. They wore Phillips gowns and jackets of Oriental and Alice blue tulle and carried Colonial bouquets of yellow starburst poms and white roses with matching flowers in their hair.

Robert Hauck of New York City served as his brother's best man and the ushers were another brother, Peter Hauck of South Carolina and Alan Hill of Hampton Falls, N. H.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Lanam Club in Andover and the couple took a wedding trip to South Carolina where they will reside.

The new Mrs. Hauck is a graduate of Andover High School and Drew University. Her husband, also a graduate of Drew University is employed in sales by I.B.M. in Savannah, Georgia.

OBITUARIES

JANE GRANT

Jane Cowdrey Grant 64, of Andover, an organic farmer, teacher, peace activist and philanthropist of Earth Grant Farm, Osgood Road, died Oct. 5 at her home after an illness.

Mrs. Grant's four children, Glen, Gael, Celt and Mac, and "adopted son," farm manager Michael Russell were with her at the time of death and wrote the following memorial tribute to her. The Townsman is publishing it in its entirety.

"Jane Grant's family wish to inform her many friends that their mother died quietly at the farm this week. To all those who knew Jane, her steadfast and resourceful approach to life blended the ideals and aspirations of youth with the high standards of tradition.

In 1938, she and Glen bought the historic Abiel Upton homestead and moved to Andover. Together they restored the house, farmed the land, and started Craftwood Products, the family woodworking business. Jane was a fourth-grade teacher for many years at the Pike School in Andover until she resigned to serve with her husband in the Peace Corps and as a community development worker in Honduras. Following the Peace Corps, she and Glen went to Haiti where Jane was headmistress of Ecole la Providence, sponsored by the Albert Schweitzer Hospital.

In 1969, following the death of her husband, Jane returned to the family farm. There, with the help of young interested people, the Earth Grant Farms in Andover was established to revive ecological farming. Jane was also a founding member of the Andover Peace Group and over the years worked tirelessly for candidates who were committed to peace and the preservation of the environment. Her commitment to the earth and mankind culminated this year when she was asked by the Governor to serve as county representative on the Board of Agriculture.

Jane continued her involvement in education, teaching English as a second language at the International Institute in Lawrence. She participated in the many community activities sponsored by the Institute, and shared her home, family and friends with foreigners. In 1975, she was awarded the Immigrant City Award by the Institute.

In accordance with her wishes, the family has placed the homestead in trust in order that it be preserved as a historic landmark and continue to be a working farm.

Jane is survived by one sister, four children, her daughter-in-law and her son-in-law, five grandchildren, two parrots, two dogs, a cow and calf, two hundred chickens and a bountiful harvest.

A memorial service will be held for the immediate family. It was Jane's wish that in lieu of flowers her friends help needy Haitian students by making tax deductible contributions to the Unevangelized Fields Mission which administers Ecole la Providence. Donations should be mailed to the family, who in turn will forward them to the Mission."

Mrs. Grant was born May 10, 1913 in Scranton, Pa.

Dr. Curtis H. Martin of Andover, a member of the Political Science Department at Merrimack College and Dr. Robert A. Leone of the Harvard Business School have recently published a volume for D. C. Heath entitled "Local Economic Development: the Federal Connection."

The book traces the history of programs to aid areas of the United States beset by chronic capital flight and high unemployment, the so-called depressed areas. It examines problems faced by the Department of Commerce Economic Development Administration, since its establishment in 1965, in bringing industry and permanent jobs to areas outside the mainstream of the United States economy.

The authors examine a number of proposals for devising a coherent agency strategy within the political constraints created by Congressional Pressure against policy focus.

East Junior High Happenings

By Matthew Lenoe

The East Junior High Student Council held its first meeting of the year on Tuesday, Oct. 4. Two items were discussed, the first being the Friendly Visitors Program, in which students visit with the elderly once a week. The second item was the school dance planned for Oct. 28, using a local disc jockey for music.

Last week both the Debating Club and Math League team held opening meetings. Seventh grade attendance was larger than previous years at both meetings; hopefully the seventh graders will remain enthusiastic.

The newspaper staff members are now working on their assigned articles, due Friday. One interesting assignment was a survey on, "What would you do if you saw a wombat?"

East's football teams had a tough week, losing two close games. The Eighth Grade team lost 14 - 8 on Wednesday with John Ingemi scoring the touchdown and Carmen Scarpa, the extra points. The Ninth Grade team lost 12 - 6 to Chelmsford Parker on Friday with Paul Reichert scoring East's lone touchdown.

The East Soccer Team came back from a 2 - 0 deficit in the final quarter to beat West Junior High in double overtime 3 - 2 on Monday. Rick Apgar scored all three of East's goals. However, the soccer team dropped its next two games, both against undefeated teams, 4 - 1 against Stoneham on Wednesday (David Avery scoring for East) and 4 - 0 to Billerica in a morning game on Columbus Day.

The field hockey team lost their away game on Friday, Oct. 7 by a score of 1 - 0.

The intramural sports teams spent the week practicing, their first meeting being on Wednesday.

The localites are: Michael G. Canavan, 24N Lidwood Road, Martin J. Driscoll, 101 Elmcroft Road, No. Andover, Robert J. Campbell Jr., 1 Brechin Terrace, Douglas D. Greenlee, 6 Dorset Circle, Mark W. Zurwell, 48 Reservation Road, Stephen J. Wilkins, 128 Main St.,

and Robert F. Newton, 150 Brentwood Circle, North Andover.

Ward Bog

On Sunday, Oct. 16, at 2 p.m., Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary will sponsor a walk at the Charles W. Ward Reservation and its unique Bog. The Ward Bog is owned by the Trustees of Reservations and represents a remarkable wetland area which is glacial kettle hole. The plants and animals specific to this area will be examined as well as their

Andover High Notebook

By Renee Pruneau

On Oct. 8 and 9 the Andover High marching band and Indians held a 24-hour marathon concert. Starting at 5 Saturday afternoon at West Junior High, the band and Indians played songs and danced until 5:00 Sunday afternoon. This marathon concert was held to assist in raising money for the band's trip to Florida in April. It's remarkable that the music was as good at the end as it was at the start of the affair.

No matter what time a straggler wandered in, the band and Indians were going full force. Sleeping bags, blankets and cots were scattered throughout the auditorium as the exhausted students tried to get a few minutes of sleep. Most did not succeed, however. As soon as the last note was played, it was as if it signaled the end of the adreneline. People who were wide awake ten minutes previous were suddenly overcome from lack of sleep. A hearty congratulations goes to all those who participated and thanks to those parents who acted as chaperones.

The A.H.S. pep club is working very hard to get ready for this year's Homecoming Weekend to be held on Oct. 29-30. Their main emphasis is working on Friday night's pep rally where they plan on performing a skit depicting the fall of a knight. This year they play the Lawrence Lancers.

Also being worked on are the decorations for the lobby and a few surprises for the various high school team members. You'll probably see the pep club at each football game in their reserved section right on the 50-yard line. If not visible, they're always audible. The vivacious officers are: president, Kate Normandy; vice president, Ann Driscoll; secretary-treasurer, Martha Easton.

Pumpkin Sale Aids Trip

Doherty School's second annual pumpkin sale will be held next Friday, Oct. 14 from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the school's playground. The fifth grade class has organized this sale to help raise funds for their outdoor education trip to the National Seashore, Eastham, Cape Cod.

Each year Doherty fifth graders spend a week at the National Seashore with their teachers, studying marine life, varying environments, weather and natural history. Excursions to Provincetown, Thoreau's outer most house, the Museum of Natural History in Brewster, The National Seashore Museum highlight the week. Students participate in bog walks, sand dune hikes and have seminars with local experts on whaling, marine biology, plants, soil erosion and other environmental factors. The trip is also an opportunity for social growth for these youngsters.

They live in the house which was previously the Eastham Coast Guard Station. Situated high on a bluff overlooking the Atlantic; this house becomes "home" for the week. Children and teachers alike, share the duties and responsibilities of living together as one big family!

This year's trips are planned for the weeks of Oct. 17-24.

PSATs To Be Given

The Guidance Office of Andover High School will offer the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT-NMSQT) on Saturday, Oct. 22.

The PSAT-NMSQT can help the student assess his ability to do college work, evaluate his plans for college, and choose his senior-year courses. If the student is unfamiliar with timed test made up of multiple-choice questions, the PSAT-NMSQT will give the student experience with such tests. It will also give him a good idea of what to expect when he takes the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), which many colleges and universities require of their applicants.

Furthermore, taking the PSAT-NMSQT is the first step necessary to be considered for scholarships administered by NMSC. If a student is eligible and wished to be considered for NMSC-administered Merit Scholarships, and Achievement Scholarships that will be awarded in the spring of 1978, the student must take the 1977 PSAT-NMSQT.

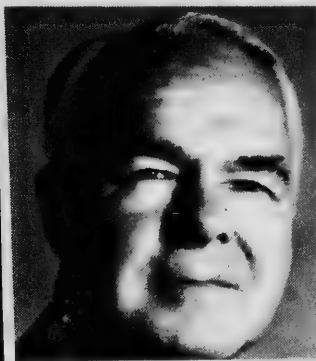

Students may register in the Andover High School Guidance Office. Registration fee payable at the time of registration.

Cabaret

The Fourth Annual Cabaret sponsored by the Central Catholic Marist Women's Guild and the Athletic Boosters Club will be held on Saturday, Oct. 22 in the Central Catholic Auditorium. There will be dancing from 7 to 12 p.m. to a well known orchestra. Setups and refreshments will be served.

Contact Mrs. Pat Sweeney, Mrs. Pauline Gorgol or Dick Paduchowski for tickets.

Visit Fair

On October 4, a large group of residents from the Academy Nursing Home in Andover went by bus to the Topsfield Fair. While there, they enjoyed seeing all the craft exhibits including an entry by Mrs. Anna Sheen, a resident at Academy. After enjoying a picnic lunch at the fairgrounds, they took a foliage tour of the area while returning to Academy. From left, back row: Wasel Mozal, Jean Battles, Mary Richards; front: "Mary's lost lamb" Mary Bourdelais.

Audubon Seeking Members

October is Membership Month at Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary, in Topsfield. The goal is a 20% increase in the Essex County service area of the sanctuary.

During the month of October, anyone joining the society at Ipswich River will receive a tuition-free certificate, good until July 1, 1978, for any course, workshop, or program of their choice. It is the sanctuary's way of saying, "Thank you," to all new members who pledge their support to the education, conservation, and research programs of Mass. Audubon Society.

Also, during the membership drive, existing members of the society are encouraged to help the sanctuary by getting new members. Those who bring in a member will receive discount certificates for canoe rentals or courses or book purchases at the sanctuary. At the end of the drive, the members who get the most new members will receive a "super prize" for their service to the sanctuary. They will have their choice of a free weekend in the sanctuary's cabin, "The Innermost House," or 2-day's free canoeing on the Ipswich River, or $18.00 in natural history books.

There are many advantages to being a member of Mass. Audubon. Members receive free admission to all the society's sanctuaries, have canoe and cabin rental privileges, receive discounts on courses and gift shop purchases, get a monthly newsletter and the annual "Man and Nature" book.

For additional details and information call the sanctuary office between the hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, Saturdays.

CUT CAR COSTS WITH SAV-CAR AND LAWRENCE SAVINGS BANK

LSB wants to help stop car theft and give you a break on insurance costs at the same time, so they're offering the SAV-CAR device at considerable savings to protect your automobile.

SAV-CAR's armored steel lock requires at least 15 minutes to sever with a special cutting tool. The operating key is one in 80,000, and there is no master. The armored steel cable protecting the electrical wires can't be pulled loose and closes off completely on both sides if it's cut. The armored steel cap can only be removed by a trained mechanic with a special drill. That takes 20 minutes.

With SAV-CAR, it isn't worth the car thief's time and skill to steal your automobile.

LSB IS MAKING THE SAV-CAR... ABLE AT ONLY $32.50 plus tax to anyone.

However, if you negotiate an Auto Loan at LSB, it's yours for just $18.00 (plus tax based on $32.50 retail). Minimum loan is $2000 to qualify.

Installation is only $12.50 at local authorized installation centers.

SAV-CAR has been approved by the State Insurance Commission, so installation makes you eligible for a 15% discount on comprehensive insurance costs under current regulations.

See LSB today. Save on your car loan, your insurance costs and help stop auto theft. LSB is working for you to make owning and operating a car more economical.

The Committee

Dear Mrs. Poore:

I have read with interest in the Townsman of October 6 Mr. Salamone's idea for the selection of a town manager. While on paper it may seem beneficial to have a select committee screen candidates and present the five best to the selectmen, I agree with the editorial comments of the Townsman that it is "more proper" for the board to be involved in the entire process from beginning to end."

I was privileged to be chairman of the selectmen in the first selection process for a town manager, and therefore, have been through the entire process. From that experience I feel that this is part of the duty of the Board of Selectmen, and I don't feel that any other body should be given the responsibility. As a citizen of the town I have the same feeling. The board should have the responsibility of making the decision for selection; this is covered under the charter; this is the responsibility of the board.

Eugene A. Bernardin, Jr.

The Fire Fighters

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Through your newspaper may I give some comments relative to Andover Fire Fighters not being satisfied with the performance of Andover's Town Management and Government in regards to their contract negotiations. I was informed by the picketers in front of our Town Hall carrying signs — they were doing so to inform the people of Andover what was going on in regards to their contract. As I read their various signs it told me nothing — maybe gripes. It would have helped the Firefighters cause much better to have given an account in the Andover Townsman for its readers to read and thus form their opinions rather than picketing and carrying signs. It would be well if all unions such as teachers and other departments in Andover do likewise. It might be a good idea to conduct a Public Forum as they are doing in several towns and cities in our state which is great — Andover must keep up with the times you know. In speaking to President John Beanland on Friday morning as I passed by the picketers, I told him I had heard they were going to picket for one week. I requested President Beanland to cut it out that day. Saturday morning at 9 a.m. I heard President Beanland announce on radio there would be no more picketing by the Andover firefighters. I commend President Beanland highly for doing so — Thanks a lot.

The Town of Andover has always had a great bunch of firefighters, dedicated to their work and giving Andover residents superb service in the line of duty. Our fire chiefs also have served our Town of Andover superbly in their line of duty and in management of their department.

To firefighters — please get back to the negotiating table concerning your contract with stability — integrity and keep cool is very important in any negotiations whatever the nature and by whatever group is entailed in them.

Barrel Problems Are World-Wide

Touring most anywhere in Massachusetts, one can find the usual barrells dotting the highways. The ever-present obstacles were apparent to travelers over the holiday weekend and will be again in the coming weeks as motorists view fall foliage. This photo is demonstrative of the problem throughout the state, but we hasten to note, that, alas it is not in Massachusetts, but in Ramstien, Germany, and supplied to the Townsman by Richard Deyermond of Andover street, who visited there this summer.

A Solution

To The Andover Selectmen:

I attended the conference meeting of your Board Sept. 8 and listened to the discussions with deep interest. At about 9:00 p.m. I asked Mrs. Poore if I could address the Board briefly as I had a suggestion that I thought might be of some assistance, but my request was denied. I am not being unduly critical of this action on the part of Mrs. Poore as I think I can understand her thinking that this might make it necessary for her to recognize many other people who were also present, and I mention it only to explain why I am taking this method to contact all members of the Board.

As I listened to the discussions, I can see that you are faced with a serious and complicated dilemma, a dilemma that cannot be solved by endless arguments over the minute meaning of words, phrases or terms. It can only be solved by a concerted effort on the part of all members of the Board to come up with a compromise that will satisfy all the rights of all the parties involved, namely the Board of Selectmen, the Town Manager, and most important of all, the rights of the voters of Andover.

As one method of accomplishing the above solution, I wish to offer the following suggestion: that the Board of Selectmen appoint Mr. Austin as Acting Town Manager for a term of two years, expiring Sept. 3, 1979.

It seems to me that this would satisfy all the rights of all the parties involved; that it would remove any legal liabilities the present Board might have either because of their own actions or the actions of the previous Board; and most of all that the people of Andover would consider it to be a very statesmanlike solution to a very difficult problem that has marred the image of our Town.

I trust you will give this suggestion serious consideration, and I would appreciate receiving your reaction to it.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — October, 1902

Wallace Waugh, manager of the Boston Home Journal, took lunch at the Phillips Inn last Wednesday and expressed himself as being much pleased with the new arrangements.

An alarm of fire was sounded from Elm and Whittier streets last Tuesday night just before six o'clock, by a resident who became irritated by the continuing flickering of an electric wire rubbing against a tree. The fire department responded quickly, but no service was needed.

Edward C. Carter started Wednesday on his journey to India. At the Brooks House, Cambridge Tuesday night, he was accorded a farewell reception, addresses being made by Bishop Lawrence, and representatives of Catholic, Unitarian and Episcopal churches. Mr. Carter also spoke and his father, Rev. Clark Carter was called upon for a few remarks.

John N. Cole, one of the members of the senatorial delegation from Andover, placed the Hon. Archie N. Frost of Andover in nomination for a second term as state senator.

Rodney Cannon is soon to leave for New Mexico, where he will study mining by actual participation for a year, before entering the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

50 Years Ago — October, 1927

The Stowe school football eleven played an exciting tie game with Mitchell Military Academy in Billerica Saturday afternoon before a large crowd. Ernest Gallant of the Stowe school provided the local scoring with an excellent 15 year run around end.

Walther McCarthy, and Henry McCarthy of Cuba street and A. Roy Sharpe of Baker's Lane have left for Flint, Michigan, where they will work for the Chevrolet company.

Frank M. Smith of Beverly, a former local man, was the installing officer when the American Legion Post 8 officers were installed Tuesday evening in the Legion rooms. George S. MacKenzie was installed as commander, Ralph T. Berry, vice commander; Joseph McCarthy finance officer and Arthur Jowett, sergeant-at-arms.

The Boy Scouts of Andover were busy in Carmel Woods over the weekend, working on the town reservation and clearing a new trail. Considerable under brush was cleared away at the Outlook.

Punchard had another good Saturday afternoon on the football field as they applied the whitewash to Wakefield, 19-0, with Walter Batcheller again running wild.

25 Years Ago — October, 1952

Phillips Academy officials presented plan for road improvement to Essex County Board of Trade which calls for a traffic island from Chapel Avenue to Highland Road.

Rev. Patrick J. Nugent, OSA, pastor of St. Augustine's announced this past Sunday that due to the growth of the parish, there will now be five Sunday Masses. The parish is also observing its 100th anniversary.

Louise E. Gleason, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Gleason, left recently for Quantico, Va. where he will attend officers training school with the U. S. Marines. He is a graduate of Central Catholic and Notre Dame.

A new course in the Phillips Academy Evening Study program is attracting considerable attention from Andover residents. "Know Your Sports," is the course being taught by Frank F. DiClemente and George L. Follansbee.

Signs of winter approaching can be seen in the school committee action this week. Approval was given to awarding of contracts for oil and coal, with the oil contract now at 16 cents per barrel for number five oil and $1.50 per 100 gallons for number two oil.

10 Years Ago — October, 1967

Rev. Frederick B. Noss, retired minister of South church, will return to the parish Monday night to present a travelogue on his trip around the world from which he recently returned.

The Vo-Tech school board this week signed a new contract with the teachers union which calls for a salary schedule ranging from $5,000 to $9,500 for the coming year.

Qaddafi Is Supplying Arms To Puerto Rican Terrorists

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON - Puerto Rican terrorists have been setting off bombs in New York City and Puerto Rico. We have now learned from underground sources that the terrorists have been getting some of their arms and money from Libya's Muammar Qaddafi.

Libya has become a major oil producer. This provides Qaddafi with the money to purchase arms. He also uses oil tankers to smuggle the arms and cash to terrorist groups.

Our sources say that Liberian tankers have been hauling the booty to Puerto Rico. The tankers deliver oil to a refinery on the island. The money and small arms are smuggled onto the tankers and then ashore while the tankers pump out the oil.

In other words, Qaddafi has been supplying the terrorists with the means to carry on warfare against the United States.

Apparently, terrorist organizations work together through an international radical underground. There has been cooperation between the Japanese Red Army, the Baader-Meinhof gang in West Germany, Palestinian terrorist groups and, more recently, Latin American terrorists.

All these extremist groups have obtained weapons from Qaddafi. Apparently, he identified himself with the revolutionary movement around the world. Meanwhile, he is trying to get his hands on tactical nuclear weapons.

Cult Killers: Last July, we reported that a bizarre religious cult had left a trail of murders and kidnappings across the west. It was a story we had been investigating for a year.

Now five members of the violent cult have been arrested. Six others are still at large. One of them is the leader, a religious avenger named Ervil LeBaron. The warrants accuse the 11 of varying degrees of murder and attempted murder.

The LeBaron story is one of the strangest we have ever investigated. Ervil LeBaron proclaimed himself to be the prophet of a wild polygamist sect. He ordered his wives and his disciples to kill for him.

Then he set out to execute false prophets in God's name. The execution list apparently included President Carter.

The first false prophet Ervil eliminated was his own brother Joel. The brutal murder was committed by Ervil's followers. But Ervil was jailed in Mexico for inspiring the murder. He served only about 10 months. Police reports claim he got out of jail by bribing the prison authorities with $80,000.

The day after Christmas of 1974, a band of Ervil's followers, including his own wives, bushwacked some rival polygamists in the tiny Mexican town of Los Molinos. They used firebombs and shotguns in a wild-west attack. The women were such poor shots that, miraculously, they killed only two people and wounded 19.

There were other murders — a reported 20 in all. Then LeBaron began serious plans to conquer Mexico. He recruited Mexican peasants to fulfill his delirious dreams.

But all this is about to end. The first five were arrested in Dallas and Denver. In Dallas, there was a daring raid on an electrical appliance store where LeBaron had been spotted. The raid caught a few followers, but Ervil had already departed.

The State Department, meanwhile, is negotiating with Mexican authorities to help capture the terrible Ervil LeBaron. You see, he was raised in Mexico and was last seen south of the border.

Buddy Blackwell: Robert Blackwell, the Commerce Department's man in charge of maritime affairs, supports subsidies for the shipping companies. This, of course, has endeared him to the big maritime interests.

We've learned more about Blackwell from secret Congressional files. He was called behind closed doors to discuss illegal rebating practices by the subsidized shipping companies.

Our sources slipped us a copy of the transcript, which is stamped secret. Blackwell is supposed to enforce the maritime laws, but has an unusual way of discharging his duty.

According to the transcript, he told the Congressmen he had just learned three hours earlier that illegal rebates were widespread throughout the industry. Then California

Rep. Pete McCloskey asked Blackwell whether he would object to requiring the companies to certify that they were complying with federal laws.

Blackwell's answer: "I certainly would (object)."

"Why?" asked the Congressman.

"Because," replied Blackwell, "I think it is grossly unfair. I think it is outrageous."

McCloskey was incredulous. It would be outrageous, he demanded, "to ask a man who is a recipient of government funds that he is not going to commit a crime?"

Blackwell replied: "Absolutely."

Reagan's Return: We've just learned from Ronald Reagan's associates that he'll wait until after the 1978 elections to decide whether to run for president.

He'll keep out of the Republican primaries. However, he'll campaign in the finals for selected candidates whose views he feels he can support.

Not until after the election will Reagan evaluate his own candidacy for 1980.

Drug Drop-Off: Terrorists are financing their activities with drug money. They use airline flight crews to smuggle the drugs to drop-off points in Miami, New York City and San Francisco. Our sources say the crews fly for some of the world's most renowned airlines.

Usually, the drugs are routed through some country that won't arouse the suspicion of Customs agents. A favorite drop-off point, for example, is Tahiti. The drugs are smuggled to Tahiti, then sneaked aboard U.S.-bound flights. As one source put it, "Customs doesn't expect anything except coconuts from Tahiti."

Barnes' Work On Exhibit

An exhibition of serigraphs and paintings by Howard Barnes will open at the Andover Gallery of Fine Art, 91 No. Main St., on Oct. 15th. Gallery hours are 9-5 Tuesdays through Saturdays and 2-5 Sundays.

Barnes' work is a combination of hard edge abstraction and soft blending of colors. He works primarily with squares and rectangles making use of unusual and interesting color combinations. His imagery often has a dream-like surrealistic feel. The latest images reflect an influence from the south west in their geometric patterns.

Barnes has studied at Washburn University School of Fine Arts, in Topeka, Kansas, Heidelberg University School of Fine Arts, Heidelberg, Germany and with Paul Reed a member of the Washington School of Color, Washington, D. C. Mr. Barnes' work will be on exhibit until Nov. 12.

Warriors Win Sloppily, 20-10

By Lyn Stalter

Saturday's was one of those mistake-filled games Coach Dick Collins is glad to have out of the way.

The Golden Warriors' only saving grace was that they didn't make quite as many mistakes as Austin Prep, and therefore turned a sloppy day into a 20-0 win.

Austin narrowly won the penalty sweepstakes, with nine penalties for 115 yards, while Andover finished with eight for 96 yards. The Cougars, however, just never did get their defense going.

Despite some good plays called back for penalties and some dropped passes, the Warriors managed to run up 351 yards and 19 first downs on their way to three touchdowns.

The first came less than two minutes into the game, when Rick Collins returned a punt 64 yards for a touchdown. Manny Silva added the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Then with 3:23 left in the half, Quarterback Dan Welsh, who leads all divisions with a total of nine touchdown passes, tossed one 18 yards to halfback Ed Collins.

That score climaxed the only successful Andover drive in the half — an eight-play, 77-yard one which began with a roughing-the-kicker penalty, an 18-yard run by Collins, and a 20-yard scamper by Welsh himself.

Welsh, hit 15 of 30 passes during the afternoon, for 199 yards.

As the clock ticked down on the first half, Welsh passed to Joe Terrion for 23 yards, ran for 11, and tossed two to Paul Farnham to set up a field goal try with seconds remaining. Silva missed on the 44-yard boot.

Austin, meanwhile, had made only two first downs and 47 total yards in the first half, with minus nine yards in the passing column.

Sloppy play continued in the third period with no scoring on either side and early in the fourth quarter, Andover took over a first and 10 at the Austin 19. Welsh fumbled, kicked the ball backwards, covered up on the 38 and finally, three plays later on a fourth and 26, hit Joe Terrion at the 10 yard line — just short of a first down.

The final Warrior touchdown came with 5:37 left in the game. Rick Collins pulled in a 25-yard Welsh pass and climaxed a drive that had covered 40 yards in five plays.

The Andover second string later drove to the Austin 12 before time ran out in the game.

Austin tallied only 85 yards and four first downs for the game.

The Warriors take on Methuen Saturday at Eugene Lovely Field, while Austin will host Dracut.

Warrior Booters Share Lead

Last week was a slow one for the Warrior Booters playing only one game against Chelmsford. The result was a one to one tie.

Outplaying Chelmsford most of the game did not pay off for the warriors in the win column. Chelmsford came out strong and scored their only goal in the first period on a fine shot by Jim D'Amato in the upper corner of the Warrior net.

This seemed to wake up Andover as they came back strong and applied the pressure for the rest of the game. During this time they were able to bulge the twine only once, this in the third period on a good play by Peter Chiklis after a feed from defender George Donovan. Andover outshot Chelmsford fifteen to five shots on net, and had a much larger margin go wide.

Chiklis was denied one time in the third period as his ball headed for the open net and was just kicked out by a defender for Chelmsford.

In the last period, Andover headed the ball wide on a fine crossing play with the open net in front, and toward the end of the game Dave Farrell made a fine header in a crowd which had the goalie beaten but then hit off the cross bar and was cleared by the Chelmsford defense. The fourth period was played almost entirely in the Chelmsford penalty area, and they were very lucky to escape with a tie.

Andover had a bye over the weekend and in the process two of the leading teams were victorious and caught up with Andover which creates a three-way tie for first place with Wilmington and Billerica.

This will be an important two weeks as Andover plays Wilmington at home on Monday afternoon and then on the following Monday they play Billerica at home. Chelmsford is still not to be counted out as they are only one point behind the leaders by virtue of a tie to Methuen over the weekend.

The MVC will be a very close race in the second half of the season. Andover is still undefeated but has only been able to tie Wilmington, Billerica, and Chelmsford so they have their work cut out for them if they wish to achieve dominance in the league.

The Language of Flowers

by Gerry Trull

The flowering dogwood, Cornus Florida, has some lovely cousins you ought to meet. They are actually shrubs and one beauty, the Swamp Dogwood grows along the banks of lakes, streams, and you guessed it — swamps. The twigs are dark maroon and the shrub sprawls along the waterways preventing erosion and providing food and shelter for wildlife. The Gray stemmed Dogwood has smooth gray stems with flower clusters at the tips and meanders through fields and meadows. Birds love them for nesting and for their delicious berries. The most striking of the dogwood shrubs is the Red Osier Dogwood with its bright red bark. Look for all three in winter and enjoy their distinctive branch formations.

And look for your favorite flowers and plants at TRULL'S MILL HILL FLOWER CENTER, 411 River Rd., 851-6161. Enjoy them in your own home or give them as gifts, and don't forget — you don't need a special occasion to give flowers; a no-occasion gift of flowers or a plant is always warmly received. Check our weekly 99¢ cash & carry special. Open: 9-5:30 Mon-Sat.

THE TOWNSMAN, OCTOBER 13, 1977

By She Livermore

The Andover Soccer League had another battle with Mother Nature this weekend and she won; once again all Sunday games had to be cancelled due to the heavy rain which played havoc with the fields. Saturday's games were played on schedule and a brief summary of the results follows:

JUNIOR DIVISION:

Aztecs 2 Metros 1

The Aztecs won the victory in their game against the Metros although they had to work hard for it; indeed the winning goal was scored in the final minutes of the game. The Aztecs' goals were booted in by Ronnie Forbes and Dana Forbes, whilst Michael Corkery scored for the Metros. Fine performances were turned in by Danny O'Brien, Sean Melia and Chris DiClemente of the Aztecs, and Nicky Coon and Michael Corkery of the Metros.

Cosmos 3 WhiteCaps 2

The Cosmos chalked up their fourth straight win when they played against the WhiteCaps in a very exciting game, which saw both teams demonstrating fine soccer skills. The goals were all scored in the second and third quarters, two by Chris Sapuppo and one by Mark Neaves of the Cosmos, and by Eric McDowell on a corner kick from teammate Henning Ohlenbusch of the WhiteCaps. Fine performances were turned in by David and Steven Flanders, and James Mackay of the Cosmos, and Richard Bordelais and Henning Ohlenbusch of the WhiteCaps.

BiCentennials 1 Sounders 0

The BiCentennials played against the Sounders again this week and this time they were the victors. It was a very tight game which remained scoreless until the fourth quarter when Joe Massaro booted in a goal on an assist by Paul Lussier. Fine performances were turned in by Rajiz Sheel who joined the team this week and Kaitlin Nahil of the BiCentennials, as well as Brian Hannon of the Sounders.

INTERMEDIATES:

Timbers 2 Lancers 2

The outcome of the game between the Timbers and the Lancers was actually decided in the final seconds when a penalty goal kick was awarded the Lancers who successfully completed it (although it took two attempts!). This made it a tie game, with both teams splitting the points. The Timbers' goals were scored by John Drake and Shannon McCabe, both on assists from Jerry Buss. The Lancers' goals were both scored by John Crawford. Fine performances were turned in by Robert Foley and David Reed of the Lancers, as well as Steve McDowell and Glenn Livermore of the Timbers.

Rowdies 8 Kicks 0

The Rowdies dominated the game they played against the Kicks although they found the going rough at times as the Kicks, who are all playing soccer this season for the first time, demonstrated some fine soccer skills. The Rowdies' goals were scored by Chris Comparato (3), Fran Sullivan (3), Brian Novelline and Tom Bride. Fine performances were turned in by Dan Sheehan, Jeff Penner and David McDonough of the Rowdies, as well as goalies Robert Dziadosz and Fred Kratz of the Kicks who made many, many fine saves.

SENIORS:

Strikers 3 Earthquakes 0

The Strikers continuing their winning streak were the victors in their game against the Earthquakes. The teams were evenly matched and they both demonstrated great soccer skills, to the credit of their coaches Cord Ohlenbusch and Julius Ren. The Strikers' goals were booted in by Michael Walsh (2) and Barry Buss. Fine performances were turned in by Frank Rossitto and Alvin Ohlenbusch of the Strikers, as well as David Jennings and Thayer Zaeder of the Earthquakes.

Quicksilvers 3 Stings 0

The Stings hoping to win two in a row found the Quicksilvers to be a very aggressive team and despite great effort, were overwhelmed by their fine passing techniques. The Quicksilver goals were booted in by Tom Kinsky and Dave Tremblay. Fine performances were turned in by Dan Boland, Steve Donahue and John Best of the Quicksilvers, as well as the Stings' goalies Brian Bedell and Danny Kimball who held the score to a minimum.

DIVISION 4:

Andover Stars 2 Hamilton 0

The Andover Stars travelled down to Hamilton on the weekend of Oct. 1 where they played in the rain against that towns' all-girl team. Both teams were evenly matched and the parents who had travelled down with their daughters witnessed an exciting soccer game. Andover's first goal came in the second quarter when Connie Corkery dribbled the ball in from the left and when she was 20 feet away from the goal, kicked it right into the Hamilton nets. The Hamilton team attempted to tie it up but they found it very difficult to challenge the great defensive strategy of Maggie DeLeire and Kristin Oliver, as well as goalie Elaine Scanlon, who defended the Andover nets

J.V. Booters Top Chelmsford

By Ted Teichert

The Andover J.V. soccer team downed the Chelmsford Lions last week, 4-1.

Chelmsford started the scoring in the first period with Brian Murphy scoring with an assist coming from Russ Hartman. Later in the same period, Andover tied the game with a goal coming from Tom Wiseman with Russ Serbagi getting the assist.

In the second period the Warriors scored again on a penalty kick by Russ Serbagi. The penalty was a hands ball. Andover dominated play until the third period when the Lions outplayed the Warriors but failed to score.

With the last quarter to play, Andover made up for weak play in the third period with two goals. Jeff Barlow passed the ball to Dave Schroeder who then slipped it past the goalie. The last goal of the game came from Tom Wiseman who teamed up with Dave Schroeder and Russ Serbagi.

Standouts in the game were Russ Serbagi with one goal and two assists, Tom Wiseman with two goals and Dave Schroeder with a goal and an assist. Coach Dave Stackhouse said "This is the most physical team we have played so far."

Andover will play St. Johns today and Wilmington on Monday with Methuen to follow on Saturday. Andover is now 3-2.

Andover Girls Lose

By Polly Whitley

Monday, the Andover Girls Soccer Team I lost a closely fought contest to Beverly by the score of 3-2.

Andover, even though losing the game, was pleased with the efforts of all of the players. Lisa Peters, a newcomer to the team, scored the two goals with assists from all of the forward line. Left Wings Sandy Fitzpatrick, and alt. Lynne Gyeska played exceptionally well as did Susan Lindholm, Lisa Peters, and Right Wings Polly Whitley and alt. Margot Rosenthal.

Barbara Lynch helped the forward line tremendously as well as fullbacks Julie Seymour and Diane Sweetser. Goalie Margot Healey did a good job covering the Andover goal.

Other outstanding players were Mary Harrigan, Valerie Young and Lisa McKertich.

Coach Tom Flannery is pleased with the weekly progress of the team and feels this improvement will lead to Andover victories in the near future.

Soccer

took great shots at the net but great saves by Hamilton's goalie stopped their fine effort. Andover scored again in the final quarter when Doreen DeNitto booted in a most spectacular goal about 15 feet from the Hamilton nets, to make the final score Andover Stars 2, Hamilton 0. Fine performances were turned in by all members of the team and they are to be congratulated for representing Andover so well.

Andover Diplomats 3 Chelmsford 0

The Andover Diplomats played at home on the Sacred Heart Field on the weekend of Oct. 1 against a team from Chelmsford. The Chelmsford players dominated the first quarter and the Diplomats found themselves playing a tight defensive game. Andover came back much stronger in the second quarter and the ball passed back and forth as both teams attempted to control the play. The Diplomats scored their first goal in the third quarter when Cindy Clinton kicked the ball into the Chelmsford nets on a pass from teammate Lisa Aiello. In the fourth quarter, Kelly Shannon scored two more goals for Andover, one on a pass from Andrea Matchett and another on a pass from teammate Marci Lebowitz. The whole team made a great effort to win the victory for Andover and they succeeded, with a final score of 3 to nothing. Fine performances were turned in by Ann Marie Murphy and Katie D'Urso.

Johnson Participates In Project In Israel

By Amy Levinson

Undeterred by record-breaking Israeli heat, crop-dusting, irrigation floods and red tape, a contingent of young American archaeologists completed the first season of excavation at a 6,000-year old site forty kilometers north of Tel Aviv.

An Andover resident, Eric S. Johnson of 155 Haggetts Pond Road, was one member of the excavation team which was headed by Dr. W. Michael Hammond of Duke University, Durham, N.C. and sponsored by the Brooklyn Museum of New York.

Presently a senior at Duke with plans to go to graduate school in anthropology, Johnson participated in digging at the Olesh, Israel site as well as in conducting a random survey of its vicinity for evidence of other ancient civilizations.

Hidden in the dense rows of cotton plants in the fields of Olesh, a co-operative agricultural village, the excavators unearthed an estimated 40,000 artifacts — pottery sherds, stone implements, human and animal bone fragments, and shells.

Field director Hammond attributes this large volume of "finds" to the inherent richness of the site and to the careful dig-ing and screening techniques used in the three excavation trenches. The progress of his 19-person team was, he says, hindered by a variety of problems — equipment locked up in Israeli customs for one month, delays caused by crop-dusting, and "cave-ins" and flooding due to careless irrigation.

What I'm most pleased about is that nowhere along the line did we overly panic," says Dr. Hammond. "I feel good about the site. We've got some good notes and information, we gave the volunteers good field experience, and we really got down the basic skills in the trenches and on survey."

After travelling from their quarters at a nearby agricultural school, the Olesh volunteers and staff members were digging, picking and brushing away by 4:30 a.m. Sunrise over the cotton plants and the distant Samarian Hills became an ordinary phenomenon during the seven-week excavation.

Each work day, Paul Steinfeld, a doctoral student at Columbia University, took a small group on hikes, surveying a geographically varied area around Olesh and continually running into hospitable Arabs in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River.

"You can't understand what you're excavating if you don't know what's going on around you," Steinfeld claims. "From what I can tell from this season, there is a much higher proportion of prehistoric sites (older than 8,000 years B. C.) than have been noticed before on surveys of this area."

In the excavation trenches, volunteers were discovering delicate stone beads, pieces of human skulls, goblet-like containers called "coronets," and thousands of pottery and stone tool fragments. Controversy raged all summer over what the heap of charred earth-lumps was in one trench — an oven, a kiln, a burial? Only next season's excavation will tell.

The majority of artifacts discovered was, according to Dr. Hammond, from the Chalcolithic period, dating from 4000 to 3200 B.C.

"Very little has been done on the Chalcolithic," he says. "It's a no-man's land between prehistory's stone cultures and Biblical archaeology's Bronze Age (circa 3000 B.C.)."

Mrs. Madeline I. Noveck, project director and associate curator of the Brooklyn

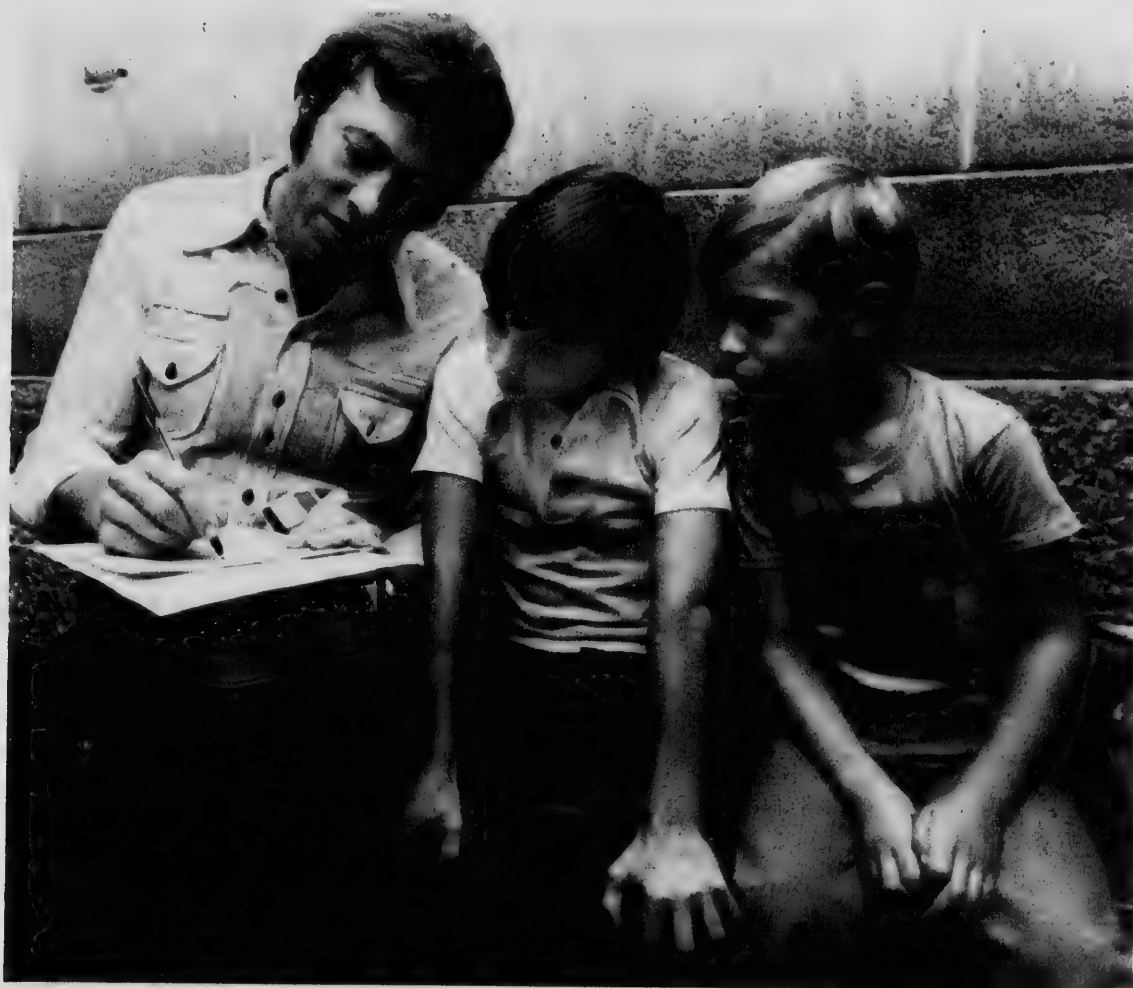

Museum's Department of Middle Eastern Art and Archaeology, describes the Chalcolithic as being a period "on the verge of civilization with — the beginnings of metalworking and a certain complexity of social order preceding, in Israel, large urban centers."

Approved last year, Dr. Hammond's original proposal to the Brooklyn Museum states that after Olesh he will excavate another Chalcolithic site near Beer Sheva. Ceramics specialist Ben Robertson, an Olesh area supervisor, in addition to stone tool or "lithics" specialist Hammond, will attempt to define what artifacts characterize the Chalcolithic period based on a comparison of the Museum's two sites with others. They have five years to complete their task.

"Our approach is not to say we are excavating a site but to say we want to study cultural patterns to see how people lived," Dr. Hammond explains. "Patterns of behavior are reflected in the artifacts."

Compared to traditional Middle East archaeology, Hammond says his field techniques and anthropological approach are aimed more at reconstructing culture and chronology.

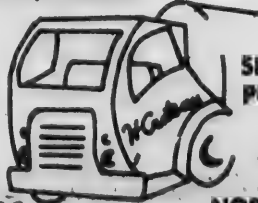

With fewer irrigation problems, more personnel and adequate funding in the upcoming excavation seasons, Dr. Hammond says he hopes to attain his goal: an understanding of the living patterns, social structure and environmental relationships of the people who lived during the Chalcolithic period.

To a businessman, fire is a devastating experience. Most businesses suffering a major fire don't survive more than a year afterwards. Generally the company is paid for the fire damage, but the rebuilding or relocation expense can be fatal.

May we suggest the following: BUSINESS INTERRUPTION INSURANCE, to pay for lost income while your company rebuilds. EXTRA EXPENSE INSURANCE to pay the other heavy expenses incurred in carrying on the business.

We would welcome the opportunity to discuss your Fire Insurance coverage with you.

Former CBS President Speaker

Arthur R. Taylor, former president of CBS and an active figure in international banking and finance, will speak at the FORGE Exchange Series, Upstairs, Memorial Hall Library, on Sunday, Oct. 30 at 2:30 p.m. Taylor's subject will be "Communication in a Free Society."

Some of the questions he will address are: "How is modern communication affecting the American dream and our industrial life style?" Can we—working through religious and community groups—have an effect on the media? Do we have a free press or are the government and the network accomplices? How much control does television have over our ideas and actions?

Taylor will also speak at Kemper Auditorium, Phillips Academy, South Main Street, Andover on Oct. 28 at 8 p.m. on "Human Rights in the Next Decade."

Both programs sponsored by FORGE are open to the general public.

Taylor was an early proponent of the family viewing concept and worked for the improvement of job and training opportunities for competent women and minority employees at CBS. He also testified on many occasions in favor of the protection and strengthening of first amendment rights for broadcast journalists.

Taylor was president and a director of CBS, Inc., from 1972 to 1976. As chief operating officer, his business responsibilities extended to CBS broadcasting, recorded music, publishing, mail order operations, musical instruments manufacturing, and consumer-oriented businesses, as well as all corporate staff functions and governmental relations.

He is currently working with an international corporation to stimulate foreign investment in American cities.

Earlier in his career, Taylor served in a variety of posts and as a director for the First Boston Corporation and the International Paper Company.

FORGE (Forum for Renewal, Growth and Exploration) is a new resource center of Andover and surrounding communities working to provide education, service and research programs that promote personal growth and strengthen the family unit.

Post Office

Union officials representing local postal workers, are continuing their efforts to retain all services locally, rather than move to Lawrence.

Morris Biller, coordinator for the American Postal Workers Union, in a letter to the postal service requested that the moving of the postal clerks from Andover to Lawrence be cancelled, pointing to the fact that postal workers be uprooted with no gain in postal service.

In another letter received by local postal workers this week from John J. Hannon, national vice president of the union, he advised of steps being taken by the organization to block the move to Lawrence.

Hannon, with other union officials met with Biller and others in New York to discuss the Andover situation and noted that no definitive answers were forthcoming relative to the proposed move.

Noting that the postal service was unable to justify its contemplated move, Hannon went on to say: "The specific comments on Andover were that four to six routes would be motorized and as a result the Postal Service had no parking available in Andover, Massachusetts. Both Mr. Biller and I stressed the fact that the proposed dollar savings as spelled out by the Postal Service was ineffective because they have never intended to spend monies for new facilities or additions to others. It was made very clear that no union complaints had ever been filed in any of these facilities relating to overcrowded working conditions. I talked with Deputy Postmaster General Bolger in Washington on Thursday, September 22nd concerning these contemplated moves and he himself wasn't completely sure if the move should be made at this time. Our objections were fully recorded at this meeting and I am hopeful that the Postal Service will be getting back to us within the very near future."

If the processing facilities were moved to Lawrence, carriers would make daily round trips to Andover via jeeps to deliver the mail.

Walker last week said that the move was an internal matter for postal officials to make, and only maintenance of service to the town was required, which the postal service intends to do. He said there would be no loss in any service to the town due to the move to Lawrence.

Use Of Stud Tires Restricted

The 1977-78 winter season will be the last season motorists will be permitted to use studded tires on their cars in California, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.

States which currently prohibit use of conventional metal-studded snow tires are Florida, Hawaii, Illinois, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Texas, Utah and Wisconsin. The Canadian province of Ontario also prohibits their use.

Locally, Massachusetts permits their use between Nov. 2 and April 30.

Studded tires have been banned or restricted by many jurisdictions because of evidence of damage to highways. Studies have shown that studded tires driven over dry pavement for lengthy periods can cut deep ruts into road surfaces. In addition to obliterating painted lane and other highway markings, such grooves increase the chance of water buildup which can lead to dangerous hydroplaning.

Chicago Rocking Boston

Quick: Quiz of the day. CHICAGO! What does it stand for? Well, you may answer corn-fed cattle, pigs, lambs, slaughterhouses, Joe E. Lewis, the Valentine Day Massacre and Wrigley Field.

Any of those answers would get you a second cup of coffee.

At the Colonial Theatre in Boston Bob Fosse's dancing and singing disciples kick, bend, wiggle, shimmy, cheat, shoot em up, cry, lie and generally do all sorts of things Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts shouldn't.

You see it's a spoof. A S-P-O-O-F, my friend. And let me tell you if you've just taken a second mortgage on your house to send your son or daughter to Law School at Harvard, Notre Dame, Boston University or the University of Virginia — then hurry and call right now and direct them into a law specialty like —: Latent Law or Naval Law. 'Cause those criminal lawyers are pretty bad critters.

Take Jerry Orbach for example. He is cast as Attorney Billy Flynn. "Greasy and tricky" he is called. His Act II impersonation of Attorney Joseph Welch defending a floosie, publicity-hound, blond, cheating, hoover-wife is the ultimate in caricature.

In this intimate, dark yet garishly lighted night-club style revue (Musical Play) we see a kinetic cast of lovely gals with talented partners in brassy, colorful, encounters filled with walloping noise, great rat-ta-tat, hoofing and hollering.

This is a male chauvinistic play. You see its the girls who are behind bars. All boyfriend killers, husband killers or assorted style. They all gather and fraternize with a witty number "Cell Block Tango."

It's the big entrance, however of barrister Flynn that causes the uproar and brings people to their seat edges. As "Billy sings "All I Care About — and then he goes on to rend our hearts about his dedication and hid semand for $5,000 per client — just to take the case. (Say, friend do you remember what $5,000 bought in the twenties?)

The book has silly dialogue, Some old jokes. In the nostalgia vein, though, its' great to hear that peppy damsel Velma Kelly, played superbly by Carolyn Kirsch, yell out to the imaginary audience, "Keep your socks up fellas!"

The show has a Las Vegas quality to it. Leggy gals, string-bean male dancers. Everyone is in some form of danskins. Multi-colored, garters, vests, a variety of hats, capes, collars, jewelry and pasties. Earthy? Yes. Erotic? No.

Patricia Zippodt's costumes — so bright and sophisticated balance off against the stark blackness of the stage design.

Visually the show is a delight. The 'Graphics' alone through the levels of the stage make an interesting collection in themselves.

The toe-tapping music comes from the upper level. An art deco railing frames a smart 'club' orchestra. The band-leader calls our attention, in early radio style, to each performer and their numbers. At times his role is taken over by different tux attired M.C.'s.

Tired businessmen ought to get a laugh out of this company.

"Chicago" does to the courts of Justice what Watergate did to politicking.

So does the lady who killed her running out lover get in the end?

That my friend is what the finale of Act II is all about.

Kudos to pretty Penny Worth as Roxie Hart. A girl with a hard heart, awful wig and buckets of talent.

Some un-easiness comes from too many references to the Deity — to taking the Lords' name. No malice is intended. Surely — it just forms a habit, a cliché repeated too often in the script revealing the writers' lack of imagination and fresh nostalgic wit.

So what does Chicago stand for? Sides of beef, the Art Institute, the Loop? Sure, call Logan and book a flight. Judging from the show at the Colonial, now through Oct. 15, (the second in their new Subscription series) its' quite a town. Men even dance with their wives! Aw nerts!

By William Jerome

The number of married persons working in America is declining, the U. S. Department of Labor has reported. In 1976, approximately 32.4 percent of the labor force consisted of unmarried individuals or separated couples. The decline of married persons, according to the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, is due to a long-term drop in the labor force participation of married men, which offsets the number of married women who entered the work force.

Oriental Carpets On Display

A select group of splendidly-woven and finely-knotted carpets is on view at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. The exhibition, entitled "Ten Great Oriental Carpets," represents Persia, India, The Caucasus, Turkey, Egypt and Spain from the 15th to the 18th century.

One of the most beautiful and well-known carpets included in the exhibition is the silk Hunting Carpet which was acquired and first shown during the Museum's Centennial in 1970. Designed for Shah Tahmasp, ruler of Persia in the 1500's, the flowing contours and subtle detail of the design recall miniature paintings of the period.

The figural themes of the Hunting Carpet — battling dragons and phoenixes, equestrian hunters chasing antelopes — will contrast with the geometric designs of the other carpets. The Cairene Carpet is a superior example with a central octagon of brilliant blue, red and green.

contract when it expired. Bowen was opposed.

In April, the board membership was altered to include Bowen, Poore, and new members Albert Cole and Edward M. Harris, with a vacancy existing through the resignation of Alan French. At that time, the four announced that Austin would be retained in office for another two years when the term expired on Sept. 2.

As that date approached, the majority of the board felt there was legal question involving anything less than a five-year term as provided by the charter.

While there was difference of opinion on the legal ramifications of appointment, some members feeling that a two year appointment could be accomplished, the majority of the board voted to make Austin acting manager.

Meanwhile, board members wrestled with evaluation processes and job descriptions relative to the office.

Last week, Selectman Philip Salamone offered to the board a proposal for appointment of a select committee to review applicants for the position of town manager and provide the selectmen with the five best candidates for final selection.

Salamone said the proposal had nothing to do with Austin as such, but was offered as a solution to the problem facing the board. Austin chose not to remain at the session for the discussion of the matter.

Austin is currently working as acting town manager with the provision that should he be dismissed he would receive 60 days notice, thus that salary.

Under the circumstances and the apparent relationship between him and the majority of the board, the ability of the manager to administer the town has been hampered greatly, a fact he recognizes.

Thus, it is possible that given the assurance of the proposal worked out in executive session Tuesday night, the town manager may have offered his resignation Wednesday night.

At the outset of the executive session Tuesday night, two members expressed a desire to keep the session open. It was called for 6 p.m., an hour and a half prior to the regular meeting of the board.

Selectman Albert Cole and Edward M. Harris initially opposed the closed session. Both men were elected in March, pledged to retain the services of Austin as manager.

Selectman Richard J. Bowen, who is believed to have worked out the arrangements of the proposal, threatened at one point to leave the meeting and return for the regular 7:30 session.

Cole and Harris then allowed the executive session, with the provision that details be made public and any actions be taken at a public session.

The item was not on the regular agenda for the Tuesday night session, and was never discussed in open meeting.

As for the special Wednesday night session, agenda items included only the job description, evaluation process and the Salamone select committee proposal early in the day, but the manager's decision could be considered with the consent of the majority of the board.

The first successful, manned, heavier-than-air flight was made in a glider in 1853.
